Sociology

Head of subject: Mr. Williamson

Our Team

- Mr Williamson – Head of Sociology and Politics. Taught Sociology, Politics and Economics at High Storrs since 1991. Head of Sociology and Politics since 2001.
- Mr Nixon – Teacher of Sociology and Politics. Taught Sociology and Politics at High Storrs since 2019. Previously experience as Head of Subject at Brookfield School.
- Ms Eagle – Teacher of Sociology and Politics. Joined High Storrs in September 2021 after teaching posts at Tapton and Sheffield High School.

Our Curriculum

Sociology is taught at KS4 and KS5 as an option. The KS4 GCSE follows a specific specification, covering Families and Households, Education, Crime and Deviance, and Social Stratification. The KS5 A level covers subjects not available at GCSE (to ensure the subject remains fresh to those who have studied at GCSE) including Media and Culture and Identity

Our Results

High Storrs is one of few schools offering Sociology at GCSE and results are always favourable both city-wide and nationally. A level results have traditionally been strong.

Our Legacy

Why Sociology matters

We can learn so much about ourselves, and others, by examining the influences on our social behaviour. Following a Sociology course makes us more aware of the factors that affect our chances in life, and can help us make society better.
